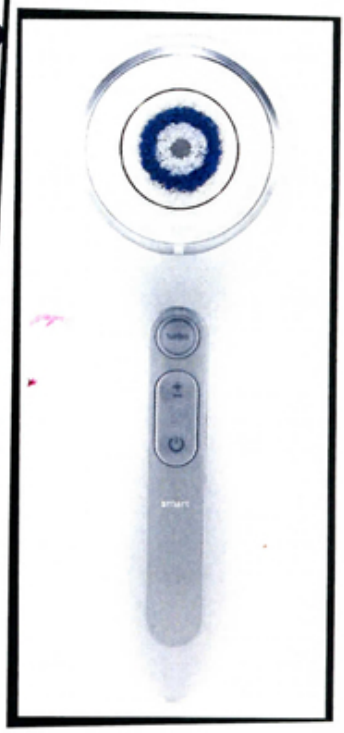
No more fishing for lip gloss. Glass Handbag bags have an internal lighting system and style to spare. (This python-embossed leather bag is $425.) Visit glasshandbag.com.
—Elizabeth Hazard, Photo Director

If you're looking for a splash of chic, try a Marimekko large-scale design wallpaper mural ($325), digitally printed on high-end, non-woven paper. This one, in the "Tumma" print, will give a glamorous burst to an otherwise understated abode. Visit marimekko.com.
—Andrew Stone, Editor-at-Large



I'm in love with my Clarisonic Smart Profile sonic facial cleanser ($265). It deep-cleans without being harsh on skin—which is something I value now that I'm in my mid-40s. Visit clarisonic.com.
—Amy Zavatto, Contributing Editor

Most of us have busy lives. Dry your hair faster with this microfiber hair towel from Aquis ($18). It's truly amazing and cuts down on hair-damaging blow drying. Visit aquis.com and read our story on page 36.
—Sung Choi, Creative Director

I'm a big Classpass fan, and love my spin and strength training classes. But I wouldn't survive without my Lolë pants. The Run Capris ($75) are soft and so cute. Visit lolewomen.com.
—Samantha Boden, Deputy Editor

I'm obsessed with GrandeLASH-MD ($65) for long, thick eyelashes. Rather than using fake eyelashes, I apply this formula to my upper lids (and to brows, to fix over-plucking.) Visit grandelashmd.com.
—Toni Negas, Managing Editor

Parisians are usually the pinnacle of style and sophistication, but when I travel to France with this trio of cosmetic pouches from Nabilak ($50), I'm the one turning heads. Visit nabilak.com.
—Ruchel Louis Coetzee, Co-Executive Editor